The Association of Indiana Counties, Inc. (AIC) was founded in 1957 for the betterment of county government. Each of Indiana’s 92 counties are members of the AIC. The AIC Board of Directors is made up of elected county officials and is responsible for overall AIC policy and management. AIC serves its members through lobbying, education, publications, research, and technical assistance.

Indiana News 92 is published bi-monthly by the AIC at 101 W. Ohio St., Suite 1575, Indianapolis, IN 46204-2051. It is distributed to county elected officials, county employees, state and federal legislators, state agency personnel, National Association of Counties (NACo), universities, non-profit associations, media, and organizations interested in the betterment of county government. For advertising rates and other information, please contact Elizabeth Mallers, Editor.

All county members receive annual subscriptions to Indiana News 92 magazine through payment of county dues. Subscription Rate: $25.00 per year.

The evolution of expenditures allowed under the CARES Act funds indicates a willingness of the US Treasury to keep the ultimate goal of CARES Act funding at the forefront, stabilization. In my opinion, that includes stabilization of local government services. The new guidance in the September 21st US Treasury FAQ was welcome news and will help stabilize local government services now and in the future.

When Congress enacted the Coronavirus Aid, Relief, and Economic Security (CARES) Act and it was signed into law by President Trump on March 27th, 2020, little was known about the pandemic. The legislation appropriated over $2 trillion in economic relief and support for government expenditures. It offered multiple programs to protect people from the public health and economic impacts of COVID-19. It also afforded states and some local units of government (those over 500,000 in population) with direct allocations to reduce the spread of COVID and funds to help stabilize the economy and local unit budgets. Local units with a population of less than 500,000 had to seek funds from their states. In Indiana, the state designated $180 million for counties and $120 million for cities and towns from CARES Act funds. However, federal restrictions applied to those funds.

Since March, the US Treasury has developed guidelines for many of the programs created in the CARES Act, including how states and local units of government could spend their share of the CARES Act funds. Initially, CARES Act funds were restrictive to immediate costs directly related to the pandemic; however, subsequent clarifications of allowable expenses will help stabilize funding for the state and local units of government. Although, difficult decisions and cost reduction efforts have been implemented, such as hiring freezes and reductions in benefits, the CARES Act funds will help stabilize county services.

Allowing the funds to be used for reimbursement of some public safety and health salaries will help counties with CY 2020 budgets but also CY 2021 and CY 2022 budgets.

Clarifying that counties can seek reimbursement of salaries for public safety and health personnel appropriated for CY 2020, allows counties more time to prepare for expected revenue declines in CY 2021 and CY 2022 budgets. That provides stabilization of county budgets and county services and stabilization was an objective of the CARES Act. The AIC has multiple resources on how you can take advantage of CARES Act funds to help future budgets. Feel free to call us or visit our website for information on this issue.
Currently, federal law prohibits the use of federal funds for health care provided to inmates of a public institution, which in Indiana includes our county jails. The Medicaid inmate exclusion policy (MIEP), was originally enacted as part of the 1965 Social Security Act (Sec. 1905(a) (A)). The original purpose was to prevent state and local governments from shifting inmate care costs to federal programs. In reality, however, it is preventing federal Medicaid (or any other federal funds) from being used for care of citizens who have not been convicted of any crime and otherwise would be eligible for the Medicaid benefit to cover the cost of their care.

Because this law does not differentiate between a convicted inmate and a person incarcerated prior to conviction, this practice has had an unintended consequence of cutting off federal health benefits to local jail inmates who are awaiting trial, and therefore presumed innocent.
This raises questions about the Constitutionality of the law under the Due Process Clause (5th Amendment) and the Equal Protection Clause (14th Amendment) of the United States Constitution.

This federal exclusion policy also covers other federal funds. This includes the Children’s Health Insurance Program covering youths in juvenile facilities. Also, veterans’ access to VA hospitals are cut off during incarceration until they are unconditionally released. This is especially troubling when many veterans deal with mental health problems such as PTSD, substance abuse disorders, depression and anxiety. The only exception is if the inmate requires a visit to hospital of over 24 hours.

This all directly impacts the bottom line for county government. Because the exclusion policy terminates Medicaid coverage during incarceration, the full cost of medical services fall directly on county government. The daily health care costs for inmates is staggering, but further consider when a patient has long term illnesses and prescription drug costs that must be covered by counties. Factor in that many jails have become the first line of mental health service or drug treatment service, and it is further understood that jail health care costs have skyrocketed for counties.

We urge our federal representatives to re-examine the Medicaid Inmate Exclusion Policy to not only aid county finances, but to assure that citizens are not losing their federal benefits without due process or equal protection under the law. This session of Congress saw legislation to fix this federal law, but none have advanced. In addition to two stand-alone bills introduced in the Senate, the House-passed HEROES Act on COVID-19 response also included legislation on this matter. For more information on the MEIP and other federal issues, please visit our partners at the National Association of Counties (NACO.org) and their 2020 Advocacy Center.
Indiana State Parks

Prophetstown State Park

McCormick's Creek State Park
Fall is a great time to visit an Indiana State Park close to home or anywhere in the Hoosier state. Whether you plan a family picnic, take a hike with a friend or spend a few days camping with your kids or grandkids, there’s plenty to see and do with great fall color, cooler temperatures and fewer mosquitoes! Here are some great ideas for fall:

✓ Walk a prairie maze. Both Prophetstown and Potato Creek state parks offer mazes to get “lost” in as you explore the prairie landscape. Each has a maze map with fun activities to do along the way. Prophetstown is located in Tippecanoe County near Battle Ground. Potato Creek is in Marshall County near North Liberty and South Bend.

✓ Check out the Trail of Scarecrows at Prophetstown State Park. Each year, local businesses and organizations create entertaining scarecrows that are placed along the park’s bike path. You can ride or walk the hard surface trail and then vote for your favorites at the property entrance gate. Proceeds support the programs offered in the park throughout the year. Discover Prophetstown at on.IN.gov/ProphetstownSP.

✓ Take the 7 Vista Challenge at Brown County State Park. A fall favorite for many Hoosiers is a drive through Indiana’s largest state park with a pause at a vista to view the “Brown County Hills” in all of their red, orange and golden glory. This year, you can stop at each vista, take a photo and learn some park history then earn a sticker and purchase a t-shirt to go with it. Find more information at https://www.browncounty.com/do/7-vista-challenge/. Check out the other “challenge” activities such as the 3 Dune Challenge at Indiana Dunes State Park and the 4 Falls Challenge at Clifty Falls State Park at dnr.IN.gov/healthy.

✓ View fall colors from a kayak or canoe. Many Indiana State Parks offer rentals, and it’s a great way to explore from a different perspective.

✓ Take a bike ride. Several parks have hard-surface trails that are open for walking and biking. Pokagon, Ouabache, Potato Creek, Prophetstown and Fort Harrison state parks along with Cagles Mill (Raccoon SRA), and Patoka lakes all have hard-surface trails that are perfect for biking and walking. Brown County, Versailles, Harmonie, Fort Harrison and Potato Creek state parks have mountain bike trails as well.

✓ Climb a fire tower. With the restoration and reopening of the fire towers at Ouabache and McCormick’s Creek state parks, there are six towers to climb. These are great places to get above the tree line and see fall colors. The others are at Tippecanoe River, Brown County, Lincoln and O’Bannon Woods state parks.

✓ Spend a day or two at an Indiana State Park Inn. Our seven inns and lodges offer great food, relaxing porches for soaking up the autumn sun, and good places to sleep after a day of enjoying the outdoors. From the Potawatomi Inn at Pokagon State Park to Clifty Inn overlooking the Ohio in Clifty Falls State Park, they are ready to welcome you. Make your reservations at indianainns.com.

✓ Go camping! Many state park campgrounds still have sites available on weekends in October, or you can reserve a site for fall break weekdays for an experience with fewer camping neighbors. Your campsite becomes a base for hiking, fishing, nature center visits and just relaxing. Check out sites and make reservations at camp.IN.gov.

✓ Enjoy a great program or two with one of our interpretive naturalists. There are crafts, hikes, talks, and fall festival/Halloween activities. Check out October events and programs at calendar.dnr.IN.gov.

✓ Get started on the Hoosier Quest. This program lets you earn a unique pin for each of the 32 state park properties by attending a program, volunteering, and exploring a trail. There are a lot of people collecting all of these pins and you can be a part of the fun. Learn more about this program at on.IN.gov/HoosierQuest.
And when fall is over, you don’t have to go home and stay inside all winter. Park trails, inns and nature centers remain open all year. Campgrounds do too, although most campground restrooms are winterized. Most campgrounds have a water source through the winter months, and vault toilets remain open as well.

Don’t miss the opportunity to explore the outdoors in Indiana State Parks this fall, and make great memories, naturally! Start planning YOUR fall visits at stateparks.IN.gov.

AIC Conference Wrap-Up

2020 CONFERENCE WRAP-UP

By Christine Traina, Director of Planning and Government Relations Associate ctraina@indianacounties.org

What a wild ride! When we determined that our 2020 conference theme would be INvision the Possibilities, we never imaged everything that 2020 had in store for us. As an event planner, I have had last minute venue changes, postponements for inclement weather, and a mirage of other unforeseen situations, but never did I envision the possibility of a global pandemic moving the conference to a virtual format. I’ll have to add that one to the list!

Thank you to all of the county officials, county employees, and vendors who tuned in to participate in our Annual Conference, and a special thank you to all of the presenters and sponsors. If your county paid the one-time flat fee, you can watch the sessions at your convenience and be eligible to earn up to 10 credit hours for the AIC Institute for Excellence in County Government program. Certain workshops are also eligible for Continuing Legal Education credit and the Assessors’ CE credit. If your county has not registered to participate, you still may. Again, sessions will be available to view until November 1.

Mark your calendars for the 2021 Annual Conference at Belterra Resort in Switzerland County on September 20-23, 2021.

The Association of Indiana Counties (AIC) has named Marshall County Council member Penny Lukenbill as the 2020 Arthur R. Himsel Award Winner. The Himsel Award is the AIC’s highest honor and is named for an individual who dedicated his public career as an elected county official. Himsel was instrumental in the formation of the AIC during his service as a Hendricks County Commissioner in the late 1950s. For many years Himsel served as Indiana’s representative on the National Association of Counties (NACo) Board of Directors. Since the inception of the Himsel Award in 1984, it has been given to an elected county official who has served the interests of county government through involvement with the AIC. The award was presented during a Marshall County Council meeting, as AIC’s Annual Conference will be held virtually this year.

Penny Lukenbill served as President of the AIC in 2013-14. She served on the board from 2005-15 and served on the AIC’s Legislative Committee for several years. Lukenbill has also served as President of the Indiana County Treasurers Association, twice elected as Marshall County Treasurer. She was also twice elected as County Auditor before being elected to the County Council in 2014. She was the recipient of the Outstanding County Auditor in 2012.

Locally, she has also been involved with the Plymouth Public Library Board of Trustees, Plymouth Park Board and Plymouth Industrial Development Board. Lukenbill is also involved in the Lions Club serving as chairperson of the Kids Sight Vision Screening Project. In 2014, she was recognized in the Congressional record at the request of Representative Jackie Walorski.

The Association of Indiana Counties (AIC) has awarded Lake County the 2020 County Achievement Award for their purchasing manual. The purchasing manual has a written narrative for each authorized statutory method to purchase supplies, services, and public works. There is a flow chart for each purchasing method authorized by statute to purchase in each specific area. The purchasing manual allowed the county to maximize efficiency in the purchasing process and produces the best competitive results.

Anton Neff, AIC Board President and Owen County Councilman is presenting the AIC County Achievement Award to Lake County Commissioner Jerry Tippie, County Attorney John Dull and several employees of the purchasing department.

The Association of Indiana Counties’ (AIC) has awarded Steuben County the 2020 Local Government Cooperation Award for their Infrastructure Expansion for Economic Development Project. Steuben County officials, officials from the Town of Ashley, and Region 3-A worked together to procure federal and state grants for this exciting environmental economic development project. The town of Ashley was awarded a grant by the Department of Commerce Economic Development Administration to help expand water and sewer access for a new site being developed by Brightmark Energy. Ashley was also awarded $1 million in Community Crossings money for a road, rail crossings and light for the Brightmark plant. The new plant will recycle plastic waste back into usable energy. The innovative company will provide nearly 100 new jobs for the area.

Since 1993 the Association of Indiana Counties began an education program to assist local officials with professional development. Even in the pandemic world of 2020, elected officials and their employees continued to better themselves through the program.

Congratulations to the 35 individuals who were able to complete requirements for certification. Fifteen individuals completed 30 hours of training to receive their Institute for Excellence Certification. Another five earned their Silver Master Award, two earned Gold Master Awards and one Platinum Master Award. Additionally, 11 individuals completed requirements to earn Continuing Education Certificates.

AIC and Bliss McKnight are dedicated to helping county officials continue pursuing their educational goals through live and recorded classes. New speakers, topics and information are considered annually to stay in touch with the ever-changing needs of local government.

This year our annual conference has 10 workshops that can be viewed to earn 10 credit hours toward any of the awards. These workshops can be taken if your county has paid their conference registration fee. One county fee allows all county officials and employees to take advantage of the workshop recordings.

Join us for the next AIC Institute for Excellence class to be held October 27 on Communications. This class will be in person at the Fort Wayne Grand Hotel or the recorded version can be viewed at later date. Watch your email and the bi-weekly Enewsletter for registration details.

Spotlight on the AIC Board

Debbie Walker
Title: Henry County Auditor

Number of years involved with the AIC: 6 years

Years in public service: 18 years

Occupation: Auditor

My county is an AIC member because: The networking, legislative and educational opportunities help the public servants of Henry County better the way the serve the public.

Why do you serve on the AIC board? The knowledge from the AIC staff and other board members help me be a better public servant.

Share a fun fact about your county: We are the home to the Indiana Basketball Hall of Fame. Until just a few years ago we had the world’s largest gymnasium.

Kim Grow
Title: Auditor of Jasper County

Number of years involved with the AIC: 12 years

Years in public service: 12 years

Occupation: Auditor

My county is an AIC member because: Education Classes, Legislation and Update to date information that is happening around the State.

Why do you serve on the AIC board? To be a small part of the big picture in County and State Government. Love to serve anywhere I can.

Share a fun fact about your county: Our County is I believe the only county in Indiana that has two time zones in it and they are only 12 miles away from each other.

Laura Martin
Title: Randolph County Auditor

Number of years involved with the AIC: 5 years

Years in public service: 8 years

Occupation: Auditor

My county is an AIC member because: AIC does a lot for county government; they lobby for or against legislation in respect to what is best for all Indiana Counties. They train elected officials and their teams to do the best job as a public servant as possible.

Why do you serve on the AIC board? I enjoy being a part of this Association and the decisions being made in the best interest of all counties.

Share a fun fact about your county: Randolph County has the world’s fastest ½ mile racetrack, Winchester Speedway.

Liz Morris
Title: Dearborn County Councilman

Number of years involved with the AIC: It has been my privilege to serve as vice president, under the tutelage of Dill Dorrell, and currently as president of the Southeast District of the AIC.

Years in public service: 15 years

Occupation: Retired publisher of a local monthly newspaper

My county is an AIC member because: The AIC is a very well respected advocate for county government. It is imperative that the voice of counties be heard in Indianapolis, as well as nationally, and the AIC makes that possible.

Why do you serve on the AIC board? Being on the AIC’s board gives me an opportunity to share ideas and learn from other county officials and AIC staff. It is also a great way to learn of upcoming issues confronting county government and possible solutions.

Share a fun fact about your county: Dearborn County has so much to offer in quality of life with great schools, beautiful scenery and many recreational opportunities, including Hollywood Casino, Perfect North Slopes and Hillforest House Museum.
Jon Eads

Title: Jay County Circuit/Superior Court Clerk

Number of years involved with the AIC: 4

Years in public service: 4

Occupation: Clerk of the Courts

My county is an AIC member because: I think the contacts, the support, advice, and experience that one comes across is very helpful to all who are involved. You get to meet people from all county positions that may need or can give you advice.

Why do you serve on the AIC board? I am serving because of the ones I have met while being involved with the AIC and have seen their passion and commitment to the AIC. As I want to be part of helping pass along valuable information and being able to provide any direction I can while sharing my feelings and opinions.

Share a fun fact about your county: Jay County and Portland is the host of the World’s Largest Antique Tractor and Engine Show in the month of August. People from all over the world attend and I really enjoy seeing the Threshing Machine and the Sawmill that are powered by the old steam engines! There are hundreds of tractors and hundreds of all kinds of steam engines. Not to mention all the great food that is available.

Jay County is a small county, but there are activities that one can get involved in and it is a great community!
